Update contracts will permit you to have a reasonable amount of changes to you site every month. This will not be a complete rebuild and I am the sole determination of whether the changes are reasonable or not .Any work that is deemed to be unreasonable will be quoted before work is started. I reserve the right to cancel these contracts at any time or to charge on an item by item basis if the work is deemed to be excessive. I will, as I always have strived to get the work done as soon as possible. The failure of you, the customer, to promptly answer questions or provide information for the completion of the work is not my responsibility.

Work not paid for with not be completed or loaded to your site. Payment in full is expected prior to start of the work.

All new items can be tested before loading to your site on my server but there is no guarantee that the settings of your server or hosting company will perform the same as my own. Should there be a problem, I will do my best to resolve it but it is your responsibility to make sure that the hosting company that you choose is capable of handing your work needs. The hosting company that I use when I sell you the domain registration and hosting package are very reliable.

All terms subject to change without notice.

I have read and understand the new pricing and terms and by signing agree with them.
